Of the INCORPORATED SOCIETY in Dublin, for promoting English Protestant Working Schools in Ireland.

THE principal Views of His Majesty's Charter for erecting these Schools, in the Year 1733, were Two. The First, for training up the Children of the poor Natives in the Protestant Religion; to which End, the Society are careful to provide them with good Masters and Mistresses, who shall teach them to read the Word of God, and instruct them in the true Principles of Christianity: The Second was, for training them up in Labour and Industry, in order to cure that habitual Idleness and Laziness, which is too common among the Poor of this Country, and which naturally leads them not only into Nastiness, but also Stealing, Lying, and most other Vices. To this End, the Children are employed in cultivating the Lands that are granted to the Schools, either by Donation, or for a certain Rent; but especially in carrying on the Linnen Manufacture in all its Branches. The major Part of their Time is devoted to these Labours, in order to render them useful Members of the Commonwealth as they grow up.

The Schools are supported by His Majesty's Bounty of One Thousand Pounds yearly, and by sundry annual Subscriptions and casual Benefactions in England and Ireland. Those already opened proceed in a flourishing Way, many of the Children having manufactured their own Cloathing; several have been transplanted from one School to another, and several also bound out Apprentices, especially to Branches of the Linnen Manufacture. The Expences of them have been very much increased these two last Years, on Account of the late Scarcity, which has greatly diminished the Society's Fund.

The Principal FAIRS of IRELAND.

Collected, every One, either from the Information of Gentlemen and Dealers, or from the Returns made by the Surveyors in their several Districts, which The Honourable Commissioners of His Majesty's Revenue were pleased to give Me, for the purpose of printing the Fairs with the greater Correctness in this Almanack: Which Original Returns are still in my Custody for Vouchers.

JOHN WATSON.

All the Fairs that happen on any one Day, are for the most part put alphabetically, so as to be found readily: k. c. is King's County; q. c. Queen's County; And in the other Counties, only the 3 or 4 first Letters are set down.

For the greater Ease of my Customers, I first set down the Day of the Month, and then the initial Letters of the Days of the Week, on which the Fairs will happen in 1742. Every one that falls out on Sunday, is of course kept on the following Monday; as is also a considerable Number of those that happen on Saturday.

The

The Principal ROADS of IRELAND.

Partly Corrected from Mr. SENEX's Map: By Mr. JOHN GIBSON: And partly Set down according to the Information of Gentlemen. Put into a new Method, by JOHN WATSON, Bookseller.

The MEASURED, or STONE-MILES, as far as I have received the Accounts of them, are marked with the Letter [f.] in the first Column of Figures. [f. f.] farther side from Dublin, and [n. f.] nearest side to Dublin.

The first Column of Figures is read thus; From Dublin to Swords 6, from Swords to White Hart 8, from White Hart to Drogheda 9 Miles, &c.

The second Column is read thus; From Dublin to Swords 6, from Dublin to White Hart 14, from Dublin to Drogheda 23 Miles, &c.

I distinguish the Columns at the Tops by the Capital Letters, from A, B, C, and so on, that there may be easy References, to avoid Repetitions.

The Postage of single Letters to Dublin from any Town mark'd thus * is Two Pence; and from every other Town, Four Pence.

The English Packets are due in Dublin on Sundays, Tuesdays, and Thursdays.

The Posts from Dublin go into Cork and Limerick, on Mondays, Thursdays, and Saturdays; and come out of Cork and Limerick, to Dublin, on Sundays, Tuesdays, and Fridays.

Some other NOTED PLACES in IRELAND, with References, in order to find out their POST-TOWNS: Corrected partly at the Post-Office, and partly by Information from the Country.

Thus, if I wanted to send a Letter to Ballihays, I find it not among the Post-Towns; but in this Alphabet, it refers to Cavan: So I must direct, To Ballibays near Cavan.

I have endeavoured to make this Alphabet generally serve for another Purpose also, I mean, That of finding nearly the Distance of any Place in it from Dublin, even whether such Place be, or be not, set down in the foregoing Roads.

Thus, in the Post-Towns, Cavan is 48 Miles from Dublin, (and the Road to Cavan is set down in the Column E. of the Roads) therefore Ballihays is but a few Miles more or less than Cavan, its Post-Town: And so of any other.

THIS is to acquaint the Nobility and Gentry of Ireland, that a Genealogical and Historical Account of all the PEERS of the said Kingdom, now existing, is preparing for the Press, and intended to be published by Subscription as speedily as possible ; which Account will not only contain their Descents in a direct Line, but take in also all the Collateral Branches of every Family, their Marriages and Issues, &c. together with the remarkable Actions of them and their Ancestors, their respective Employments, Ecclesiastical, Civil, and Military ; the Times of their Marriages and Deaths ; their Places of Burial and Monumental Inscriptions, with many other curious Particulars ; by which means the History of their Families will be set in a true Light ; the many Errors already publish'd, rectify'd and dispers'd ; and the most material Part of the History of Ireland inserted in a Chronological Order, under the several Great Persons concern'd therein.—To effect this, the Undertaker has been at a great deal of Pains and Labour, in collecting Materials, and comparing the most authentick Histories (Printed and Manuscript) in order to assert nothing without the best Authority ; and by the Approbation and Encouragement of many many of the Nobility, and the Promises of others, has been enabled to bring his Intended Work to some Degree of Perfection; which however he will find difficult to accomplish (in the manner he proposes and desires, for the Satisfaction of the World and every particular Family concern'd,) without the Information of the Nobility and the Gentry, their Relations, &c. JOHN LODGE.

P. S. The Clergy of the respective Parishes throughout the Kingdom, being the best enabled to oblige me from their Registers, with the exact Time of the Interment of the Nobility, and with such Monumental Inscriptions as are set up in their Churches, I humbly request that Favour from them, and that they will transmit them in the same manner as they appear upon the Monuments.
